WHEN YOU NEED HELP, WE ARE HERE

GroceryAid has been providing emotional, practical and financial support for grocery colleagues since 1857

GroceryAid works in partnership with hundreds of supporters across the trade and assists over 17,000 colleagues, 73% of whom are working age. GroceryAid distributes over £4m annually to help colleagues from food and drink manufacturers, supermarkets, convenience stores, wholesalers, distribution and all support functions. This includes:

Available to colleagues currently working in the industry and their immediate family members, our Helpline is a free and confidential service providing advice, support and counselling. All emotional support calls are answered by accredited counsellors providing 'in the moment' support if required.

The Helpline also provides:

- Structured telephone or face to face counselling
- An online Cognitive Behavioural Therapy (CBT) programme
- Relationship counselling
- Financial and debt management advice
- Back to work support

If colleagues are struggling financially - our non-repayable grants will help those experiencing an unexpected emergency, a change in circumstances or a sudden gap in income.

Colleagues can apply for a crisis grant if:

- Currently working in the grocery industry and can evidence a minimum of one year's service or more
- No longer working in the grocery industry, but previously worked in it for five years or more**
- Household net income and savings meet GroceryAid's financial criteria

**The time worked doesn't have to be continuous and can be with multiple companies.
